In conformity to an act of the Congress of the United States, entitled, "An act for the encouragement of learning, by securing the copies of maps, charts, and books, to the authors and proprietors of such copies during the times therein mentioned: and also the act entitled, "An act supplementary to the act entitled, an act for the encouragement of learning, by securing the copies of maps, charts, and books, to the authors and proprietors of such copies during the times therein mentioned; and extending the benefits thereof to the arts of designing, etching, and engraving, historical and other prints."

EDMUND I LEE,
Clerk of the District of Columbia.

ADVERTISEMENT.

In commencing a National Calendar, at the Metropolis of the United States, for all the states in the Union, the proprietor of this work has been enabled to give only the outline of a plan, which, by the aid of friends and his own industry, he hopes in due time to render extensively and permanently useful to both citizens and foreigners. As the first effort of the kind at Washington, he trusts it will be received with due indulgence, under the promise that it will hereafter be published on the first day of each year, and perhaps sooner; and that, from year to year, the topics which it embraces, will be corrected, enlarged, and revised, until the book presents such a body of information, political, commercial, and statistical, in the form of a Ready Reckoner, as will make it a valuable companion for travellers, men of business, politicians, and statesmen; in short, for every class of persons who wish to arrive at the knowledge of the subjects which it contains, by a short cut that may dispense them from the necessity of numerous inquiries and much loss of time. In furtherance of his object, the proprietor solicits communications from intelligent individuals in all quarters of the country, for the improvement of the Calendar, upon any and all of the matters included in it; and particularly, with a view to ascertain the actual number of newspapers, and other periodical publications in the United States, he respectfully requests that a copy of each may be forwarded to him, through the medium of the post-office, in order that their titles may be duly inserted. Suggestions tending to the greater perfection of the work, will be, at all times, thankfully received, and shall meet with due consideration.

Washington, January, 1820.

COMPENSATION AND PRIVILEGES.

In the same column with the Senators, in this Register, opp site the name of each, is stated the year in which, according their present classes, they will vacate their seats. There a two Senators from each state. They were originally divid into three classes; and one-third of them are rechosen every cond year, for the term of six years. They are chosen by t legislatures of the states. When a new state is admitted i the Union, the Secretary of the Senate puts into the ballot-b two numbers, upon paper of equal size, one of which is drav out by each of the two Senators from the new state; the Sena having determined, by a previous order, to which class ea Senator so drawing the one or the other number shall belong.

The Senate have, upon all the principal nominations by t President of the United States, a voice of advice and conse or otherwise; in which case it sits with closed doors. T journal of its proceedings is then secret. They have also a vo in the ratification of treaties; in which case it is indispensab that two-thirds of them should consent. The Senate is also court for the trial of high crimes and misdemeanours, upon i peachments by the House of Representatives.

The President of the Senate has a casting vote only in ca of an equal division of the votes of the Senators. The Vic President of the United States, when he acts as President of t Senate, receives no addition to his pay as Vice-President, whi is $5000 per annum. The President pro tempore, during t period of his services, receives $16 per diem for every day h attends.

The Senate is the only perpetual body in the federal gover ment. This perpetuity, however, belongs to it only in its ch racter of Senate; the individual members being renewed, i stated, by successive thirds, biennially.

The House of Representatives is composed of a fixed numb of members from each state in the Union, each of whom elected every two years by the people.

The Speaker of the House of Representatives is chosen by majority of the members of the House, for the term of the Co gress to which he belongs as a member of the House. His pr vileges are the same as those of any other member; and h compensation is $16 per diem.

Each Senator and Representative receives, for his service $8 per diem, during the period of his attendance in the Sena or House; and, in case of sickness, this compensation is cont nued. The same allowance is made to each for every 20 mi the usual road in going to and returning from the seat of government.

The Congress must assemble, at least, once in every year, on first Monday in December, if not otherwise provided by law. e President of the United States may convene them at any e, upon giving forty days notice. Neither House can adn for more than three days, without the consent of the r, nor to any other place than that in which the two es shall be sitting. In case of disagreement about the e, the President of the United States may adjourn them to h time as he thinks proper. The Senate and House each m their own rules; and are, respectively, judges of their own ctions.

Both Senators and Representatives are, in all cases, except ason, felony, and breach of the peace, privileged from arrest ring their attendance at the session of their respective Houses, d in going to, or returning from, the same; and for any ech or debate in either House, they cannot be questioned in y other place. They cannot hold offices under the federal vernment while acting as members. Bills for raising revenue ust originate in the House; and the House, solely, has the wer of impeachment.

Members of Congress are prohibited by law, either directly or directly, from undertaking, in whole or in part, any contract, c. with the United States.

Each Senator and Representative has the privilege of frank- g packets and letters, not exceeding two ounces in weight ch, during the session, and for thirty days before and after- ards. The Secretary of the Senate and Clerk of the House ve the same privilege. In case of larger documents, a special w is passed, exempting them from postage.

Since the above was framed, which was in 1811, the Territory of Orleans has been erected into a State, called Louisiana; and Indiana, Mississippi, Illinois, and Alabama, have been admitted into the Union as independent States, and are entitled to one Representative in Congress each. There are also three Territories dependent on the United States, namely: Missouri, and Michigan, which each send a Delegate to Congress, (who has a seat in the House,) and Arkansaw—the latter but just organized. Delegates have all the privileges of a Member of Congress, excepting the right of voting.

Library Committee—Messrs. Dickerson, Hunter, Dana, of the ...nate; Messrs. Pinckney, Wood, Meigs, of the House.

The Committees of the Senate are elected by ballot. Those of the House are appointed by the Speaker.

To these committees, in either House, is confided the investigation of business. They report to the Senate or the House, by bill or otherwise; and, upon such report, the Senate or House go in committee of the whole; in which form of proceeding the whole body of members is regarded as one committee; the president or speaker quits his chair, and some one member is called to preside as the chairman. In this committee a wide latitude of discussion is allowed, and having made progress, or come to some determination on the subject under consideration, it rises and reports progress, asks leave to sit again, or to be discharged from that business, or reports in a conclusive manner, affirmatively or negatively; and the Senate or House grant or refuse the leave or discharge, or confirm or reject the report of the committee. This form of procedure is eminently calculated to prevent precipitation in measures of importance; and it is only in committee of the whole that the president or speaker can take part in the debate.

THE PRESIDENT.

He must be 35 years of age, 14 years a resident of the United States, a natural born citizen, or a citizen at the time of the adoption of the constitution. In case of his removal, death, resignation, or inability, the duties of his office devolve on the Vice President; and by act of 1st of March, 1792, in case of removal, death, resignation or inability, both of President and Vice President, the president of the senate pro tempore; and in case there shall be no president of the Senate, then the Speaker of the House of Representatives, for the time being, is to act as President.

The President's official household consists of himself and a private Secretary, whose salary is paid by himself. The present Secretary is J. J. Monroe, Esq.

The legal title of this officer is The President of the United States; and he is, by the constitution, commander in chief of the Army and Navy of the United States, and of the Militia of the several states, when called into the service of the United States.

The President receives 25,000 dollars per annum salary, which cannot be increased or diminished during the term for which he is elected. His salary was fixed by act of 18th February 1793.

He, as well as the Vice President, is elected by electors in the several Stases, who are chosen as the legislatures of the respective States may provide. His period of service is 4 years, and there is no restriction as to his re-election; but there is no instance of any President's having served for a longer time than eight years. The following are the names of the Presidents of the United States under the present form of government, and the dates at which they were sworn into office:

GEORGE WASHINGTON,	1st term, 4th March, 1789.
	2d term, 4th March, 1793.
JOHN ADAMS,	1st term, 4th March, 1797.
THOMAS JEFFERSON,	1st term, 4th March, 1801.
	2d term, 4th March, 1805.
JAMES MADISON,	1st term, 4th March, 1809.
	2d term, 4th March, 1813.
JAMES MONROE,	1st term, 4th March, 1817.

Under the present constitution, the seat of the general government was, in the first instance, New-York, then Philadelphia, and finally Washington City; to which the public offices were removed in the year 1800. Congress held its first session in the latter place, on the 17th day of November of that year.

VICE PRESIDENT.

The Vice President of the United States is elected in the same manner as the President. He is, ex-officio, President of the Senate; and, as President of the Senate, in virtue of an act of the 8th of May, 1792, one of the commissioners of the Sinking Fund. His salary, of 5000 dollars per annum, is fixed by the act of 18th February, 1793. The Vice-President is not a member of the Cabinet.

SECRETARY OF STATE.

This officer was created by the act of 15th September, 1789. Previous to that period, by act of 27th July, 1789, he was denominated Secretary for the Department of Foreign Affairs. He is, ex-officio, a commissioner of the Sinking Fund, and by usage, a member of the Cabinet. He corresponds officially with the public ministers of the United States at foreign courts, and with the ministers of foreign powers resident here. He performs the main duties of what, in other governments, is called the Home Department; and has the superintendence of the office which issues patents for useful inventions, and of copyrights. He holds his office at the will of the President.

SECRETARY OF THE TREASURY.

The office of Secretary of the Treasury was created by act of the 2d of September, 1789. He superintends all the fiscal concerns of the government, and, upon his own responsibility, recommends to congress measures for improving the condition of the revenue. He holds his office at the will of the President; and, by usage, is a member of the cabinet.

SECRETARY OF WAR.

The War Department was erected by act of 7th August, 1789. The Secretary of War, at first, had the superintendence of Naval affairs. On the 30th of April, 1798, however, a separation took place, and a Navy Department was established. The Secretary of War superintends every branch of the military department; and is, by usage, a member of the cabinet. He holds his office at the will of the President.

SECRETARY OF THE NAVY.

This officer was created by act of 30th April, 1798. He issues all orders to the Navy of the United States, and superintends the concerns of that establishment generally. To aid him in the discharge of his duties, a Board of Navy Commissioners was instituted by act of 7th February, 1815. The Secretary of the Navy is, by usage, a member of the cabinet and holds his office at the will of the President.

ATTORNEY GENERAL.

This officer was created by act of 24th September, 1789. His duty is, to prosecute and conduct all suits in the supreme court in which the United States are concerned, and to give his advice and opinions upon questions of law, when required by the President of the United States, or when requested by the heads of any of the departments, touching any matters that may concern their departments. He is, ex-officio, a commissioner of the sinking fund; and, by usage, a member of the cabinet. He holds his office at the will of the President.

PATENTS.

The general law concerning the issuing of patents, provides for citizens only; but a subsequent one provides also for aliens who have resided two years, or upwards, in the United States.

In applying for a patent, it is necessary to attend to every legal form. The following is the mode of application.

Every inventor, before he presents his petition, shall pay into the treasury of the United States thirty dollars,* for which he will be furnished with duplicate receipts, one of which he shall deliver to the Secretary of State, when he presents his petition and the money thus paid shall be in full for the sundry services to be performed in the office of the Secretary of State, consequent to such petition. This petition must be addressed to the Secretary of State, and may be in the following or a similar style:

*Notes of the bank of the United States.

PATENTS. Mode of application.

TO THE HON. ——— ——— SECRETARY OF STATE OF THE UNITED STATES:

The petition of A. B. of ———, in the county of ———, and state of ———, respectfully represents:

That your petitioner has invented a new and useful improvement or art, machine, manufacture or composition of matter, [or any new and useful improvement in any art, machine, manufacture, or composition of matter] in ———, not known or used before his application, the advantages of which he is desirous of securing to himself and his legal representatives; he therefore prays that letters patent of the United States may be issued, granting unto your petitioner, his heirs, administrators or assigns, the full and exclusive right of making, constructing, using, and vending to others to be used, his said improvement, (art, invention, machine, manufacture or composition of matter, &c.) agreeably to the acts of Congress in such case made and provided; your petitioner having paid thirty dollars into the treasury of the United States, and complied with all other provisions of the said acts.

A. B.

The specification or description of the machine, art, discovery, or invention, must be given in clear and specific terms, designating it from all other inventions; and describing the whole in such a manner, as to comprehend not only the form and construction, if a machine, but also the mode of using the same; and if it be only an improvement on a certain machine, it ought to be so described; and, as this specification enters into, and forms part of the patent, it must be without any references to a model or drawing, and must be signed by the applicant or applicants, before two witnesses. It is material that this be in good language, and correctly written.

The following, or a similar oath or affirmation, taken before any person qualified to administer an oath, by the applicant or applicants, must be subjoined to the specification, if a citizen of the United States:

County of ———, } ss.
State of ———. }

On this ——— day of ———, 18—, before the subscriber, a justice of the peace, in and for the said county, personally appeared the aforenamed A. B. and made solemn oath (or affirmation) according to law, that he verily believes himself to be the true and original inventor or discoverer of the art [machine, invention or improvement, composition of matter, &c. above specified and described, for ——— ——— (mention he the object or intention)———, and that he is a citizen of t United States. ——— ———, Just. Peace.

If not a citizen, the following addition must be made the declaration, "that he verily believes himself to be t true and original inventor or discoverer of the art, &c. A that the same hath not, to the best of his knowledge, or beli been known or used, either in this or any other foreign cou try. ——— ———." "Also that he hath resided in the Un ed States for two years and upwards."

It is not necessary that the time of residence should immed ately precede the application.

If any inventor or discoverer should die intestate, before t application be made for a patent, his legal representatives ma apply for the patent, in trust for the heirs at law, otherwise trust for the devisees.

The specification must be accompanied by a good drawing, perspective, of the whole machine, or apparatus, where the n ture of the case admits of drawings; or with specimens of th ingredients, and of the composition of matter, sufficient quantity for the purpose of experiment, where the invention of a composition of matter. And such inventor shall, moreove deliver a model of his machine, provided the Secretary sha deem such model to be necessary. It is requisite in giving drawing of the machine, to give also sectional drawings of th interior when the machine is complex; and every drawing shou be accompanied with explanatory references. If the machi be complex, a model will likewise be necessary, not only to e plain and render it comprehensible to a common capacity, b also to prevent infringements of rights.

The drawings ought not to exceed a quarto size, and if co fined to octavo they would be still better, where it can be do conveniently and distinctly.

The papers must all be sent to directed to the superintende of the Patent Office, under cover to the Secretary of Stat which, of course, renders them free of postage; but if mode be sent, their freight or carriage hither must be paid, and b fore packing them, the name or names of the inventor or in ventors should be written thereon, with the name of the ma chine, and the date.

The Congress, being impressed with a high sense of the valu of the inventions of our citizens, have purchased an elega ed extensive building, wherein preparations are made for the accommodation of a very numerous collection of the machines illustrative of American genius; and this MUSEUM OF THE ARTS, it is presumed, will stimulate inventors to send models of the productions of their ingenuity in a style that will rather honour than discredit themselves and our country.

1. Before the publication of any book, map, or chart, a printe title thereof must be deposited in the office of the Clerk of t District Court where the author or proprietor shall reside.

It is the duty of the Clerk of such Court to record such title, i a book to be kept by him for that purpose, in the words followin

"District of ———, to wit: Be it remembered, that on t —— day of ——, in the —— year of the Independence of t United States of America, ——— ———, of the said Distri —— deposited in this office, the title of a book, the rig whereof —— clai n as ——, in the words following, to wit:

[Here insert the title of the book.]

"In conformity to an act of the Congress of the United State entitled, 'An act for the encouragement of learning, by s curing the copies of maps, charts, and books, to the authors an proprietors of such copies, during the times therein mentioned and also to the act, entitled, 'An act supplementary to the a entitled, an act for the encouragement of learning, by securi the copies of maps, charts, and books, to the authors and pr prietors of such copies, during the times therein mentioned; an extending the benefits thereof to the arts of designing, etchin And engraving historical and other prints.' ——— ———, Clerk of the District of ———.

...d the said Clerk shall give a copy thereof to the said author ...proprietor, if required to do so.

...For recording the aforesaid title and certificate, the Clerk ...ll be entitled to receive sixty cents from the said author or ...prietor, and sixty cents for every copy under seal, actually ...ven to such author or proprietor, as aforesaid.

...2. The author or proprietor shall, within two months from the ...te of the above certificate, cause a copy thereof to be pub- ...shed in one or more of the newspapers printed in the United ...tates, for the space of four weeks. And he shall, in addition, ...a book or books,) cause a copy of the said record to be in- ...rted at full length, in the title page, or in the page immediately ...llowing the title; and if a map, chart, engraving, historical, or ...ther print, he shall cause the following words to be impressed ...n the face thereof: "Entered, according to act of Congress, ...——day of ——, 18—, by ——, of the State of ——," ...hich must be printed on every such map, chart, or print.

...3. The proprietor or author, to be entitled to such copy-right, ...ust be a citizen or resident of the United States.

...4. He must, also, within six months from the publication of ...is book, &c. deliver or cause to be delivered to the Secretary ...f State, a copy thereof, to be preserved in his office.

...5. The author or proprietor, or their executors, administra- ...rs, or assigns, shall, on complying with all the requisitions of ...he law, be entitled to the sole right and liberty of printing, ...ublishing, or vending, such book, map, &c. for the space of ...ourteen years after recording the title thereof in the clerk's of- ...ice as aforesaid. And if, at the expiration of said term, ...he author be living, and a citizen of the United States, or a ...esident therein, the same exclusive right shall be continued ...o him, in the same manner, for the further term of fourteen ...ears. In the latter case the title must be a second time re- ...orded and published as before directed; and that within six ...onths before the expiration of the first term of fourteen years.

...6. If any other person shall, (after the recording and publishing ...f any book, map, &c. as aforesaid, and within the times pre- ...cribed by law,) print, publish, or import from any foreign ...ountry or state, or cause the same to be done; or knowing ...f any book, &c. to be so printed, published, or imported, shall ...ell, expose to sale, or cause to be sold, any book, &c. (without ...he consent obtaining from the proprietor thereof, permission in writing, ...o be signed in presence of two credible witnesses,) any copy ...hereof, such offender shall forfeit every copy thereof, and every ...opy, being part of the same, to the author or proprietor of such book, map, or chart, who shall forthwith destroy the sam

And every such offender shall forfeit and pay fifty cents every sheet found in his possession, printed, &c. contrary to t true intent and meaning of the law: Provided action shall commenced against him within one year after the offence sh have been committed. One half of the forfeiture goes to t prosecutor, and the other to the United States.

Any person who shall print or publish any manuscript, wi out the consent of the author or proprietor, (he being a citiz or resident of the U. States,) given as above, shall be liable suffer and pay to the said author or proprietor, all dama occasioned by such injury.

The law is the same with regard to historical and oth prints; with this exception, that offenders forfeit one dollar every sheet printed, published, imported, or sold, contrary law.

Any person not legally entitled to the right of any book, m chart, historical or other print, who shall insert therein, or i press thereon, that the same has been entered according to t of Congress, or words purporting the same, or that the cop right thereof has been obtained, shall forfeit and pay one hu dred dollars; one half of which shall go to the prosecutor, a the other half to the United States.

TARIFF. Decisions by the Treasury Department.

Explanations and decisions made by the Treasury Departmen

Angora Goat's hair, or wool, being understood to be used, i this country, entirely in the manufacture of hats, has bee regarded in the light of undressed furs, and therefore free duty.

Books, printed, a non-enumerated article.

Balsams, medicinal as well as cosmetic, have been considere liable to an ad valorem duty of 30 per cent. the new tari making no discrimination between them.

Belts for swords, with gold or silver thread wove in with th silk or other materials, do not come under the denominatio of embroidery, but should be viewed as a non-enumerated a ticle.

Brazil Pebble, prepared for spectacles, considered in the light precious stones, and liable to an ad valorem duty of 7 1 per cent.

Blankets, being an exception agreeably to the new tariff t woollen manufactures of all descriptions, and not being oth erwise enumerated, are considered liable to an ad valorem duty of 15 per cent.

Brass runners and tips for umbrellas, as other manufactures brass.

Bootees and laced boots, charged as manufactures of leather

Corks manufactured, a non-enumerated article.

Clocks and time pieces, do.

Camel's hair, same as Angora goat's hair or wool.

Carpeting, considered as manufactures of wool, or of whic wool is the material of chief value, and liable to an ad va lorem duty of 25 per cent. until the 30th of June, 1819; afte that pay to 20 per cent.

Carpetting, Brussels, not to be considered as stuff goods, bu same as preceding.

Colmenar wine, classed as all other wines.

Copper rods, bolts, spikes, or nails, 4 cents per lb.

Do. in pigs, bars, or plates suited to the sheathing of ships, free.

All other descriptions, of copper, except those already particu larly mentioned, are considered as non-enumerated, and liable to an ad valorem duty of 15 per cent. viz;

Copper bottoms cut round and copper bottoms raised at the edge Copper in plates or sheets, weighing more than 34 ounces pe square foot, commonly called brazier's copper.

[Copper in pigs, bars or plates, suited to the sheathing of ships, is, agreeably to the new tariff, free of duty. But this indefinit pression of the law leaves room for a variety of practices as the description of copper suited to the sheathing of ships. It y therefore be well to define what is considered, by this de- rtment, as coming under that denomination; in forming a nclusion on which point common usage and the general opin- n of experienced persons on the subject have governed. Ac- rding to this criterion, none but copper in sheets, about 14 hes wide and 48 inches long, and weighing from about 14 to ounces per square foot, can be properly regarded as suited to sheathing of ships.

Copper bottoms cut round, and copper bottoms raised at the ge, were decided by the Supreme Court of the United States e Cranch's reports, vol. 5, p. 286,) not to be manufactures of pper, and therefore, under the old tariff not liable to duty; t this description of copper not being suited to the sheathing of ips, is, agreeably to the new tariff, to be considered as a non- umerated article, and liable to an ad valorem duty of 15 per nt.]

nbroidery, contemplated in the new tariff as chargeable with an ad valorem duty of 7 1-2 per cent. is considered to mean that kind of work which is done with the needle, and thread of gold or silver. When not done with the needle, or if done with the needle, but with thread, silk, or chenille, &c. it can- not, in the fiscal sense of the word, be considered as embroid- ery.

athers for beds, and ornamental feathers, being conceived not to have been intended by the legislature to be placed on an equality, the former have been considered to be liable to an ad valorem duty of 15, and the latter, of 30 per cent.

ilt chains, seals, and keys for watches, gilt pins, ear rings, &c. do not, in a fiscal sense of the word, come under the denom- ination of jewelry, but are embraced by the appropriate term of gilt wares of all kinds, and liable to an ad valorem duty of 20 per cent.

uernsey frocks and wove pantaloons, used as under garments, are considered in the light of clothing ready made, and liable to an ad valorem duty of 30 per cent.

4 cents do. spikes, 3 cents do. anchors, 2 cents do. in pigs, 4 cents per cwt. in castings, 75 cents do. in sheets, rods, hoops, 250 cents do.

[Iron in bars, when manufactnred by rolling, is liable to a duty of 150 cents per cwt. ; and when manufactured by hammering, of 45 cents per cwt. But there has been a difficulty experienced by some of the officers of the customs in distinguishing that manufactured in the one, from that manufactured in the other, of the ways mentioned. The following general indications as to the manner of ascertaining the process which may have been observed in the manufacture of iron, have been communicated from this department. A bar of iron, the principal process in the mannfacture of which was by rolling, will be smooth and even, and on being carefully measured in different parts of it, will be found to be of the same breadth and thickness throughout. But a bar of iron manufactured by hammering, will be rough and uneven, and on a similar scrutiny, will be found to measure more in some parts of it than in others, and for this reason, that it cannot be drawn out by this process of manufacture, in such precise forms and dimensions as when manufactured by rolling.]

Iron bolts, is understood to be universally mnufactured by rolling.

Marble, a non-enumerated article.

Piano fortes, same as harps.

Stockings, silk, are considered as coming under the general classification of clothing ready made, and liable to an ad valorem duty of 30 per cent.

Stockings, worsted, are to be classed as stockings of wool, and liable to an ad valorem duty of 20 per cent.

Sandal wood, imported in dust or powder, being used exclusively in dying, is considered free of duty.

Spanish brown, or any genus of earths commonly used as paints, is to be regarded in the light of ochre, and liable to a specific duty accordingly.

Tin in plates, considered a non-enumerated article.

Verdigris, being a dying drug, is liable to an ad valorem duty of 7 1-2 per cent as coming under the classification of dying drugs not subjebt to other rates of duty.

Valentias and toilenettes, composed of wool and cotton and sometimes contain silk, liable to an ad valorem duty of 25 per cent.

Worsted webbing or stockinet, for pantaloons, is to be regarded n the light of woollen manufactures, or of which wool is the naterial of chief value, and chargeable with duty accordingly.

Woollen rugs, mentioned in the new tariff as an exception to woollen manufactures of all descriptions, are a kind of goods used for bed covering, and are considered liable to the same rate of duty as blankets.

Worsted and stuff goods, such as bombazettes, camlets, calimancoes, ratinetts, wildboars, shalloons, moreens, &c. which are composed entirely of wool are subject to an ad valorem duty of 15 per cent.

All irons, the handles being made of wrought iron, and being affixed to them after having been cast, and the bottoms and sides being made smooth by grinding after that operation, it has been decided, that sad irons should be considered in the light of manufactures of iron, and pay duty accordingly.

Visiting cards, being composed entirely of what may properly be denominated consolidated paper, it has been decided, that visiting cards are embraced by the classification of paper of every description, and are, therefore, liable to an ad valorem duty of 30 per cent.

NOTE—The rates of duties here specified are with reference to importations in vessels of the United States. An addition of 10 per cent. is to be made to those rates when the importations are made in vessels not of the United States, except as to such foreign vessels as are, in this respect, placed upon an equality with the vessels of the United States, by treaty stipulations, or by acts congress.

Legal Currency and Value of Foreign Coins in the U. States.

GOLD.

Gold coins ceased to be a tender for the payment of debts or mands, from and after the first day of November, 1819.

opy of a letter from Robert Patterson, Esq. Director of the U. S. Mint, at Philadelphia, to the Secretary of the Treasury, dated 22d Dec. 1819.

Sir—Agreeably to the general directions contained in your tter of the 31st of December. 1816, I have had assays made of ndry species of foreign coins therein mentioned; namely, the gold coins of Great Britain, France, Portugal, and Spain, nd the crowns of France, and the five-franc pieces." The as-ys of the foreign gold coins might, perhaps, have been omitted, they have now ceased to be a legal currency; they have, owever, for the present, been included in the assayer's report, z.

Three do five-franc pieces, ...	10	16 00

From the above report, it appears—

1. That the gold coins of Great Britain, being of the same quality with those of the United States, their intrinsic value will be at the rate of 100 cents for 27 grains.

2. That the gold coins of Portugal, being 1-16 of a carat vain inferior in quality to those of the United States, their intrinsic value will be at the rate of 100 cents for 27 9-469 grains.

3. That the gold coins of France will be at the rate of 100 cents for 27 31-173 grains.

4. That the gold coins of Spain will be at the rate of 100 cents for 28 60-111 grains.

5. That the silver French crowns will be at the rate of 117.3 cents per ounce.

6. That the silver five-franc pieces will be at the rate of 116.3 cents per ounce.

Note.—Although the recruiting service has generally b successful, this return exhibits an aggregate of several hund less than those of preceding quarters. This may be explain by the following considerations: The terms of the last of t war men, many of whom were enlisted in 1814, expire at this time; to which must be added the unusual number of d sertions. To balance this, however, there are more than 6 recruits on their march to join, which, together with detac ments not included in the monthly returns made at the he quarters of regiments and corps, and the recruits at diffe rendezvous, made, it is believed, the aggregate of the army 9,0 at the close of the year 1819.

No. 2, at Charlestown, Ms. Isaac Hull, captain commandant.
No. 3, at New-York, Samuel Evans, captain commandant.
No. 4, at Philadelphia, Alexander Murray, captain comdt.
No. 5, at Washington, D. C. Thomas Tingey, capt. comdt. nd Navy Agent; Stephen Cassin, master commandant.
No. 6, at Gosport, Vir. John Cassin, captain commandant.

No. 1. The navy yard at Portsmouth, N. H. is situated on an land, on the east side of Piscataqua river, within the jurisdiction of Massachusetts, contains fifty-eight acres, and cost 5,500 llars.

No. 2. The navy yard at Charlestown, Mass. is situated on e north side of Charles river, on a point of land east of the wn of Charlestown, contains thirty-four acres, exclusive of exsive flats, and cost 39,214 dollars, including commissions and harges.

No. 3. The navy yard at New-York is situated on Long-Island, opposite to the city of New-York, on the Wallabout Bay, ntains forty acres, including the mill pond, and cost 40,000 ollars.

No. 4. The navy yard at Philadelphia is situated on the west de of the river Delaware, within the district of Southwark, adjoining the city of Philadelphia, in the state of Pennsylvania contains eleven acres, to low water mark, and cost 37,000 dollars.

No. 5. The navy yard at Washington, in the District of Columbia, is situated on the Eastern Branch of the river Potomac, contains thirty-seven acres, and cost 4,000 dollars.

No. 6. The navy yard at Gosport is situated on the south branch of Elizabeth river, adjoining the town of Portsmouth, in the state of Virginia, contains 16 acres, and cost 12,000 dollars.

There is, moreover, held, under the navy department, in behalf of the United States, the following property:

Grover's Island, situated in Crooked river, county of Camden, state of Georgia. Estimated to contain from 300 to 350 acres. Purchased on the 19th of December, 1799, for 7,500 dollars.

Blackbeard Island, situated in the county of M'Intosh, state of Georgia. Estimated to contain about 1,600 acres. The purchase was made on the 24th of May, 1800, (including house without houses, &c.) for 15,000 dollars.

There are, besides, seventy-eight lots of ground, "situated in the precincts of the city of New-Orleans, and its dependencies, stated to belong to the United States, estimated to be worth (if sold on a liberal credit,) about 369,000 dollars;" which it has been proposed to convert to naval uses, &c.

Two stores, about forty feet square, with the wharves and lots on which they stand, at Sackett's Harbour, in the state of New-York, have been also purchased for the United States, for the better accommodation and security of the public property. One cost 2,500 dollars; the other cost 1,575 dollars.

FLAG of the United States, on the first of January, 1820.

Thirteen horizontal stripes, alternate red and white. The Union, twenty-two stars; white in a blue field.

Note. On the admission of every new state, a star is added to the Union of the flag; and this addition takes effect on the fourth day of July next succeeding such admission.

POST OFFICE ESTABLISHMENT.

GENERAL POST OFFICE.

This establishment is under the superintendence of a Post Master General, who is aided in the discharge of its duties by two Assistants. He has the sole appointment of all deputy-postmasters throughout the United States; the making of all contracts for carrying the mail; and, in brief, the control, according to law, of every thing relating to the institution. The revenue arising from the General Post Office has, for the most part, been expended upon the extension and improvement of the establishment, by which means the accommodation of the mail conveyance for letters, newspapers, pamphlets, &c. has, in a most extraordinary degree, been extended to the inhabitants of every part of the Union, even to the most remote territorial settlements.

Double letters, or those composed of two pieces of paper, are charged with double those rates.

Triple letters, with triple those rates.

Quadruple letters, with quadruple those rates, provided they weigh one ounce; otherwise, with triple postage.

Every packet, composed of four or more pieces of paper, and weighing one ounce or more, is to be charged with single postage for each quarter of an ounce; except letters conveyed by water mails, which are not to be charged with more than quadruple postage, unless the packets actually contain more than four distinct letters.

Eight pages of quarto, or sixteen of octavo, or twenty-four of duodecimo, are rated as one sheet each; and all other sizes in the same proportion.

The mail is transported in stages, each day in the year, 10,124 miles.

The mail is transported in sulkies, and on horseback, each day in the year, 10,616 miles, making 20,737 miles per day.

If you divide the post roads of the United States into two different post routes, the mail will travel each week, in stages, nearly equal to three times around the globe; and divide all the post-roads in the United States into four equal or distinct post-routes, on which the mail is carried in stages, sulkies, and on horseback, it will be equal to a travel of six times, each week, around the globe, averaging one post-office for every fifteen miles of post-road.

The mail is transported by a direct or corresponding line of stages, from the Anson, in the district of Maine, via Washington City, to Nashville, Tennessee, a distance of one thousand four hundred and forty-eight miles, in a south-western direction.—The mail is transported by a direct line of stages, from St. Mary's, in Georgia, to Highgate, in Vermont, via Washington City, a distance of 1,369 miles, in a northern direction.—These remarks apply to March, 1818.

METHOD OF DOING BUSINESS AT THE PUBLIC OFFICES.

All the accounts of the government are finally settled at the Treasury Department; for which purpose it is divided into the Office of the Secretary, (who superintends the whole, but who is not, therefore, absolute, with respect to the power of adjusting claims or of paying money;) into two comptrollers, five auditors, a register, and a treasurer.

The first auditor receives all accounts accruing in the Treasury Department, and, after examination, certifies the balance and transmits the accounts with the vouchers and certificate to the first comptroller for his decision thereon.

The second auditor receives all accounts relative to the pay and clothing of the army, the subsistence of officers, bounties, and premiums, military and hospital stores, and the contingent expenses of the war department.

The third auditor receives all accounts relative to the subsistence of the army, the quarter master's department, and generally all accounts of the war department, other than those referred to the second auditor.

The fourth auditor receives all accounts accruing in the navy department, or relative to it.

These second, third, and fourth auditors, examine the accounts respectively, certify the balances, and transmit the accounts, with the vouchers and certificate, to the second comptroller for his decision upon them.

The fifth auditor receives all accounts accruing in, or relative to, the department of state, the general post-office, and those arising out of Indian affairs, examines them, certifies the balances, and transmits the accounts with the vouchers and certificates, to the first comptroller, for his decision upon them.

The first comptroller examines all accounts settled by the first and fifth auditors, and certifies the balances arising thereon to the register; countersigns all warrants drawn by the secretary of the treasury, if warranted by law; reports to the secretary the official forms to be issued in the different offices for collecting the public revenue; and the manner and form of keeping and stating the accounts of the several persons employed therein. He superintends the preservation of the public accounts subject to his revision, and provides for the regular payment of all moneys which may be collected.

The second comptroller examines all accounts settled by the second, third, and fourth, auditors, certifies the balances to the secretary of the department in which the expenditure has been incurred; countersigns all warrants drawn by the secretaries of the war and navy departments, warranted by law; reports to the secretaries the official forms to be issued in the different offices for disbursing the public money in those departments, and the manner and form of keeping and stating the accounts of the persons employed therein. It is also his duty to superintend the preservation of the public accounts subject to his revision.

It is the duty of the first comptroller to superintend the recovery of all debts due to the United States; to direct suits and legal proceedings, and to take all measures, authorised by law, to enforce prompt payment of all debts to the United States.

The auditors of the public accounts are empowered to administer oaths or affirmations to witnesses in any case in which they may deem it necessary for the due examination of the accoun with which they are charged.

The register of the treasury keeps all accounts of the receip and expenditures of the public money, and of all debts due t or from the United States; receives from the comptrollers th accounts which have been finally adjusted, and, with the vouchers and certifica- preserves them; he records all warran for the receipt or payment of moneys at the treasury, certifi the same thereon, and transmits to the secretary of the treasu copies of the certificates of balances of accounts adjusted.

The treasurer receives and keeps the moneys of the Unite States, and disburses the same upon warrants drawn by th secretary of the treasury, countersigned by the proper comptro ler and auditor, and recorded by the register.

From the preceding description of the duties and powers o the several accounting officers of the treasury departmen every one having accounts to settle with the government, m know, at once, where to apply.

Besides the disbursement of moneys for the great objects o government, there are contingent funds appropriated yearly b congress. These are expended for such objects as could n well be foreseen, by some one of the clerks or other offic belonging to each of the departments, who is specially charge with that business, to whom the accounts of such contingenci must be presented. He takes a receipt in his own name, and the end of each quarter of a year is brought to a settlement hin self, for all his disbursements, at the treasury department.

CITY OF WASHINGTON.

Washington City, in the district of Columbia, the metropolis of the United States of America, situated, on tide-water, on the north-eastern bank of the river Potomac, in latitude 38 deg. 53 min. N.; longitude of the capitol 00, being intended as a first meridian. It comprehends all the lands beginning on the east side of Rock creek, at a stone standing in the middle of the road leading from Georgetown to Bladensburg, thence along the middle of the said road, to a stone standing on the east side of the reedy branch of the Tyber, thence south-easterly, making an angle of sixty-one degrees and twenty minutes with the meridian, to a stone standing in the road leading from Bladensburg to the eastern branch ferry, then south to a stone eighty poles north of the east and west line already drawn from the mouth of the Tyber to the eastern branch, then east, parallel to the said east and west line, to the eastern branch, then with the waters of the eastern branch, Potomac river, and Rock creek, to the beginning. It was planned under the directions of general Washington, then President of the United States, from whom it takes its name, by Pierre C. l'Enfant, in the year 1791. The positions for the different edifices, and for the several squares or areas of different shapes as they are laid down by Mr. Andrew Ellicot, were first determined on the most advantageous ground, commanding the most extensive prospects, and the better susceptible of such improvements as either use or ornament may call for. Lines or avenues of direct communication have been devised, to connect the most separate and most distant objects with the principal, and to preserve through the whole a reciprocity of sight at the same time. Attention has been paid to the passing of those avenues over the most favourable ground for prospect and convenience. North and south lines, intersected by others running due east and west, make the distribution of the city into streets, squares, &c. and those lines have been so combined as to meet at certain given points with those divergent avenues, so as to form, on the spaces first determined, the different squares or areas. At certain intervals there are squares which are to remain always open, unoccupied by buildings, for the purpose of promoting a free circulation of air: these are intended to be planted with trees, as some of the avenues already are, particularly the Pennsylvania avenue, which has been most improved, and which, from the western front of the capitol, in a straight line to the president's house, affords a beautiful vista. The avenues bear the names of those states which belonged to the

DESCRIPTION OF WASHINGTON CITY.

Union when the plan of the city was devised; since which time three others have received the names of Ohio, Louisiana, and Indiana. The capitol is the dividing point of all the streets; those running north and south of it being designated by the letters of the alphabet, as A street north, A street south; and both north and south, the streets extend to the letter W. Those running east and west, are designated numerically, as 1st street east, 1st street west, &c. In the eastern direction these streets extend to 22, and in the western direction to 27. The stream called the Tyber, runs through a part of the city of Washington; water from it may be conveyed to the high ground where the capitol stands, and after watering that part of the city, may be appropriated to other useful purposes; and the waters of both the Tyber and Reedy Branch may be conveyed to the president's house. The grand avenues, and such streets as lead immediately to public places, are from 130 to 160 feet wide, and are divided into footways, walks of trees, and a carriage way: the other streets are from 80 to 110 feet wide. The stream of the Tyber is tributary to a canal, which was cut, in 1811, by a company incorporated for the purpose from the eastern branch, communicating, for the benefit of the intermediate population, with the main body of the Potomac. The ground on which Washington stands was ceded, in full sovereignty, to the United States, by an act of the general assembly of Maryland; and the proprietors of the soil cheerfully surrendered their lands to be laid out as a city, gave up part to the United States, and subjected other parts to be sold to raise money as a donation, to be employed according to the act of congress for establishing the permanent seat of government. The principal public buildings and establishments at the metropolis consist of—1. The capitol, which is to be composed of a central edifice and two wings. The two wings were in a considerable state of forwardness in 1814, when the British army under general Ross, who was afterwards slain in battle, near Baltimore, by a sudden incursion gained possession of the city, and set fire to those wings, to the president's house and other public structures not connected with the operations of war; reducing the whole of the combustible part to ashes, together with a fine, extensive library, which had been, from time to time, purchased for the use of the congress. The wings of the capitol are now re-built, and the central building has been commenced.

The foundation stone of the north wing of these buildings was laid, in the presence of general Washington, on the 16th of September, 1793, and that of the central building on the 24th of August, 1818. 2. The president's house, situated about a mile and a half west of the capitol, on the avenue leading to Georgetown. 3. The buildings, with two new ones, of equal dimensions, erected in a line east and west of the president's house, for the accommodation of the principal heads of the departments of government, and of subordinate officers. The whole of these are of brick. 4. A comfortable marine barrack, with a house for the residence of the commandant of the marine corps. 5. An extensive navy-yard, where a 74 gun ship has lately been launched, and a frigate is now building. In this yard is an elegant marble monument, erected by the American officers to the memory of their brethren who fell before Tripoli: this monument was mutilated by the British on the 25th August, 1814. 6. A fort, which, from the extreme southern point of the land on which the city stands, commands the channel of the Potomac. And, 7. The general post-office; where the patent office is also kept. The style of the architecture of the capitol is Corinthian, and that of the president's house Ionic; and both buildings are constructed of free stone. The capitol square is enclosed by strong and handsome iron railing; and, being planted with trees, and otherwise ornamented, will afford a delightful walk for the inhabitants and visiters of the city. Prior to the conflagration of the public buildings, in 1814, many doubts had been expressed whether the seat of the national government would remain at Washington; and, at the session of congress which immediately ensued that event, a serious effort was made to the transfer the offices of government to another place; but the motion to that effect having failed, congress, with great liberality, appropriated large sums of money for rebuilding the public edifices, and voted to replace their library by the purchase of that of Thomas Jefferson, formerly president of the United States. It consists at present of about ten thousand volumes. Those who had been most forward in promoting the removal of the seat of government were now most ardent in voting to promote the prosperity of the city, thereby giving to it an unquestionable character of permanency. There is a bridge, about one mile long, over the Potomac, on piles, built in 1809; and three over the eastern branch. Of turnpikes, there is one to Alexandria, complete; one to intersect the Little River turnpike, also complete; one to Bladensburg, which has been continued to Baltimore; and one leading to Montgomery court-house.

Besides the canal from the eastern branch to the Tyber, there is one, which is of much use to the city, to pass the Little Falls, above Georgetown, through which is brought the greater part of the flour used in the district, and exported thence, and by which the massy marble columns were conveyed to the capitol. In Washington and its vicinity there are also an extensive cannon foundery, a paper mill, a window glass manufactory, which supplies the market, and exports to a considerable amount, and powder mills. The eastern branch has a sufficient depth of water for the smaller class of frigates without lightening; and vessels drawing fourteen feet water come up to the bridge on the Potomac, near to which there are two wharves; and from which, to the mouth of the Tyber, there are, at common high tide, about ten feet water. The Tyber itself is shallow, having a soft muddy bottom, easily removed, so as to admit vessels of eight feet draught to the market-house on Pennsylvania avenue, and on it there are at present four wharves.—There are four markets in the city, held three times in each week; one is well supplied and numerously attended. There is is a city library, a theatre, a medical and a botanical society, and a female orphan asylum. The Pennsylvania avenue is supplied with spring water by wooden pipes and hydrants. There are also pipes and hydrants from a spring in the vicinity of the New-Jersey avenue, and another at the navy-yard market. There is a steam-boat that runs regularly to Aquia; and, besides the ordinary line of stages, there is a new one to Wheeling, on the Cumberland road. Of banks there are three, and a branch of the bank of the United States, and an insurance office; there are, likewise, seven printing offices in Washington, and two daily papers, with an equal number of tri-weekly ones, and a paper published once a week. Stores are increasing; and, for the accommodation of citizens and strangers, public baths have been erected. To these may be added an infirmary; and there is a lottery, authorized by congress, for erecting a penitentiary, a city hall, and two Lancasterian school-houses. The population of the city, according to the census in 1810, amounted to 8,208, of which 2,304 were people of colour. The whole population, in 1800, was 3,210; giving, in ten years, an increase of about 150 per cent. In 1819, the population was 11,299; the number of buildings 2208, 925 of which were of brick. Of places of public worship there are ten, of which two are episcopal, one Roman catholic, one presbyterian, one associate reformed, two baptist, two methodist, and one society of friends. The seat of the national government was removed to Washington in the year 1800, during the presidency of Mr. Adams. The superintendence of the public buildings, and the regulation of the city generally, were, in the first instance, placed in the hands of a board of commissioners. On the first of May, 1802, this board was abolished, and the affairs of the city confided to the direction of a superintendent, subject to the control of the president of the United States. In addition to this superintendent, there was instituted, in 1815, a board of three commissioners for superintending the reconstruction of the public edifices; but, in the year 1816, this board was also dissolved, the office of superintendent annulled, and the supervision of the national buildings, and of the affairs of the city in which the general government are directly concerned, committed to one commissioner. Congress assumed legal jurisdiction over Washington on the 27th of February, 1801, declaring, at the same time, that the laws of Maryland, as they then existed, should be and continue in force; and this is the case at the present time, with the exception of such alterations as the congress have enacted, and they are but few. A new code of laws for the whole district of Columbia is now in the progress of formation, the judges of the district circuit court, together with the district attorney, having been designated, by an act of the national legislature, for the performance of that duty. These judges, consisting of three, compose a court for the trial of civil and criminal causes, in Washington county, including the city. From this court an appeal lies to the supreme court of the United States, which sits at Washington. There is a convenient county jail, likewise an orphans' court, and a register of wills. There is no city tribunal for the trial of causes of any sort, if the minor magistracy is excepted, which is composed of justices of the peace, who, upon arrests for criminal offences, have the same powers as are commonly vested in justices of the peace of the several states. They are appointed by the president and senate, and are authorized by law to give judgment upon warrant for any sum not exceeding twenty dollars The city corporation consists of a mayor and eight aldermen, and twelve common councilmen, divided into two branches, who regulate the affairs of the inhabitants by ordinances. The mayor was formerly appointed by the president; but he is now elected annually, by the board of aldermen and the common council, and these latter are themselves chosen every year, (with the exception of a portion of the former,) by the people. The mayor is a justice of the peace in virtue of his mayoral office. There are many pleasant heights about Washington, affording agreeable situations for country seats, and from whence there is an enchanting view of the adjacent vales, and the waters of the Potomac. The water is remarkably pure, the springs numerous and the climate healthy. Education has not been heretofore overlooked.

There are academies, both male and female; and among the schools at present established, there is one upon the Lancastrian plan, and, until lately, a school upon the plan of Pestalozzi. Within a range of six miles adjacent to the city, there are eleven flour mills; and, with very little expense, there might be an excellent fish market. The price of living is not proportionably higher than in other parts of the Union. The population is orderly; and there has been hitherto no occasion for a city watch.

WEIGHTS AND MEASURES.

The Weights and Measures of the City of Washington are regulated according to the standard used in Maryland, and there is a person appointed to keep the standard; who is the sealer of weights and measures, and is obliged to have an office near the Centre-Market, on the Pennsylvania Avenue. The person who holds this office at present is Mr. Jacob Leonard.

CITY LOTS.

Lots in the City of Washington, belong either to the public or to individuals. Those who wish to purchase of the public, must apply to the commissioner of the public buildings, who has the power to take the acknowledgment of deeds. Deeds may be acknowledged, also, before two justices of the peace, or before a judge of the circuit court of the District of Columbia. If the sale of a lot, or lots, is made by a non-resident, the acknowledgment must be made in the presence of a person competent to verify in the city. Deeds must be recorded within six months. If the taxes remain due and unpaid on any unimproved lot of ground, it is the duty of the collector of the ward in which it is situated to sell it at public auction so as to raise the sum necessary to pay the taxes. But notice must be first given of the intention, by advertisement, in some newspaper printed in the City of Washington. If the property belongs to persons residing out of the United States, six months' notice must be given; if out of the District of Columbia, three months; and if in the District of Columbia, six weeks. If the purchase money is repaid within two years, with ten per centum per annum interest, the lot may be redeemed. If the purchaser cannot be found, or refuses to accept, the purchase money may be paid to the clerk of the county court. If no redemption is made within two years, a title in fee simple vests in the purchaser, and the former proprietor can only claim the surplus of the purchase money after the taxes have been paid. In the case of a sale of improved lots for taxes, thirty days notice of sale is given. In this case, the mayor is obliged to give notice to the owner or agent within thirty days of such sale being made, and if the purchase money is tendered and repaid, with an addition of twenty-five per centum, within twelve months from the day of sale, the owner becomes entitled to his former right and possession.

UNITED STATES' PROPERTY IN THE CITY OF WASHINGTON.

To correct a very prevalent error, that the City of Washington, has been a burden, and an expense to the United States, the following statement is given; by which it is shown, not only that such is not the case, but that after charging the city with all the expenses incurred in erecting the Capitol, the President's House, and the Public Offices, originally; with all the appropriations made by Congress for their re-erection, since they were burnt by the British, in 1814; and with all the moneys that will be required to complete them, a balance will be left in favour of the city, of several millions of dollars.

Receipts by the United States:

The lots sold by the United States, in the City of Washington, to the 31st Dec. 1816, produced....	$ 689,195 12
The donations received by the United States from the states of Maryland and Virginia, amounted to.....	192,000 00
The building lots remaining unsold on the 9th of December, 1817, were 5,135, at the average of 5,000 feet per lot, and estimated at 10 cents per foot, would amount to.....	2,592,500 00
The free stone quarry, wharves, and water lots, owned by the United States, are valued at.....	40,000 00
The United States have reserved 541 acres of ground, distributed in such a manner as to give them the possession of the most valuable as well as the most beautiful parts of the city, which estimated at the very low rate of *20 cents per foot, would amount to.....	4,713,192 00
	$8,226,887 12

* A portion of one of these reservations was authorized to be sold, and brought, at public auction, fifty cents per square foot.

CITY OF WASHINGTON.

The Expenditures of the United States have been as follows:

For the public buildings, previously to their destruction by the British in August, 1814—viz:

The President's House,	$333,207	04
North wing of the Capitol,	479,262	57

The centre of Capitol,	100,000	0.
The President's House, Offices, Walls, &c.	36,169	00
The two new buildings, State and War,	180,741	00
	2,412,079	98

Total receipts by the United States,	8,226,887	12
Total expenditures by the United States,	2,412,079	98
Appropriation, 1819.—For covering the old War and Treasury Office with slate,	10,000	00
Leaving a balance in favour of the city of	$ 5,804,807	14

The City of Washington combines, in a high degree, the requisite so desirable for the Metropolis of a great nation.—Situated near the centre of the seaboard line, possessing ready communication with the ocean, convenient for the intercourse with every section of the country; decidedly superior in health, (as proved by the last as well as many previous years' experience,) affording the most ample conveniences as to territory, and the most beautiful situations for public as well as private edifices; it can fairly be said to vie with any spot within the sovereignty of the Union.

* These items, although included in this statement, are by no means justly chargeable to the city.

POWERS OF THE STATE LEGISLATURES.

The powers of the state legislatures are so various and so intermixed with those of the executives, that it is difficult precisely to define them in the brief span which could be allotted for that purpose in this work. Suffice it to say, that they partake in a greater or smaller degree, in the power of appointments to office; that they have the chief controul in the enactment of all state laws; that they possess the power of impeachment; have prime authority in the raising of revenue; and, in their character of representatives of the people, are either directly or indirectly, by constitutional prescription or established usage, the principal checks to governmental abuses in the states respectively, and the grand conservators of public justice and morals.

HISTORICAL REVIEW.

The attention of the American public, during the past year, has been drawn to the affairs of South America, but chiefly to the relations between the United States and Spain. In the northern Pacific Ocean the conduct of lord Cochrane, an Englishman in command of the Chilean naval forces, has given some uneasiness. The violent character of that officer has led him to adopt measures detrimental to neutral commerce with Peru and the Northwest Coast; and, in the prosecution of these measures, it is not so clear that his lordship does not mingle with his public duties views of private gain, which induce him to invade the rights of individual property. Government has not been inattentive to his proceedings, and the frigate Macedonian has been sent into those seas to give greater security to the trade under our flag. On the eastern side of South America, government despatched, during the year 1819, two vessels of war, under the command of commodore Oliver H. Perry, who had communications with the authorities of Venezuela, tending to confirm the friendly relations between them and the United States. In the fulfilment of this duty, that valuable officer died, and was honourably buried on the island of Trinidad, which lies off the mouth of the river Oronoco. Commodore Perry's mission has been followed by the appointment of a minister from Venezuela, in the person of Don Manuel Torres, who, with a happy discretion, and a prudent conduct, has strengthened the ties of amity between his country and ours. Illicit privateering has very much interrupted the commerce of the United States. The West-Indies, in particular, have been the scene of the greatest atrocities. In that quarter, under flags pretended to be Mexican, Venezuelan, Buenos-Ayrean, and Artigan, numbers of vessels have been plundered, the crews beaten, and in several instances murdered. It is believed that our government strongly feels the necessity of putting an end to these outrages; and it is a fortunate circumstance, that all the independent Spanish governments, with, perhaps, the exception of that of Artigas, concur in the propriety of doing so. A squadron of our navy has been kept up in the Mediterranean, which has served to hold the Barbary powers in check, and as a practical school for our officers and seamen. With regard to Spain, the treaty which was concluded on the 22d of February, 1819, between the American Secretary of State, and Don Luis de Onis, and ratified by the executive of the United States, by and with the unanimous advice and consent of the Senate, has not been ratified by the Spanish monarch. The king of Spain has not assigned, as the law of nations requires, any strong and solid reasons for his refusal to ratify, nor has he hitherto sent a minister to make explanations, according to the promise given to the envoy of the United States at Madrid. Notwithstanding this breach of faith on the part of the Spanish sovereign, it is still believed by well-informed men that the treaty will become effective, the American executive having been, throughout the whole transaction, so guarded, so frank and sincere, that Spain has no claim upon the friendship of other nations for support against the fair claims and upright conduct of our administration. ¶ At home, the navy has been in a gradual progress of augmentation and improvement; and, especially, by the adoption of a rigid scrutiny, with respect to the qualifications of midshipmen, additional surety has been afforded for superior intelligence and efficiency in the officers of the naval department.

The Military Academy at West-Point continues to flourish: the several divisions and detachments of the army are usefully employed in the construction of roads, in agriculture, and the formation of new military posts on our western and north-western frontiers. Fortifications, at various points of defence, have been pushed on with vigour; and the public buildings at Washington, in a true spirit of economy, have been hastened towards completion with rapidity, in such a manner as in future to avoid the great expenses occasioned by cessations and recommencements of these edifices, by which there has been, on former occasions, much waste of public money. The principal thing which has occupied public attention at home, is the state of the currency. After the United States had enjoyed, during many years of the wars of the French Revolution, a full sweep of commerce and the carrying trade, the belligerent powers of Europe, by means of unlawful orders in council and decrees, possessed themselves of the greater portion of the fruits of this traffick. Great Britain alone took from our merchants and ship-owners 917 vessels, with more or less of their cargoes: France captured and seized more than two hundred: so that, in all, the active capitalists of the United States experienced a loss of upwards of 1000 vessels, with merchandise in proportion. At a moderate computation, this loss may be estimated at from 20 to 30 millions of dollars. But our merchants were unwilling at once to sink under it; and, to keep themselves up, they resorted to fictitious capital through the medium of new banks. A reference to the date at which banks began so greatly to multiply in the United States will verify this assertion. From the commercial cities, the banking system got into country towns and villages; for as soon as it was perceived how easy it was to make paper money upon vague securities, men of speculative dispositions and small estates rushed to that resource as to a mine of gold; bank notes were multiplied almost without limit; property nominally rose in value, and thousands of individuals thought they were thereby getting richer, when, in fact, it was only the spurious paper money that was depreciating. In this state of things a wild speculation took the place of a steady industry: every body would be rich at once; and the slow accumulations resulting from labour were looked upon with disdain. The crimes of forgery and counterfeiting increased in every direction; the deductions suffered upon depreciated bank notes operated as an enormous tax levied on the pockets of the people, and a demoralization of society was obviously taking place in every section of the Union where this pernicious paper currency prevailed. At length a salutary reaction has begun. Men have found that labour is in the order of Providence, and that frugality is an essential virtue in the moral world. Subsequent suffering, equal in degree to the previous folly, must, however, be felt by the community. Men who have speculated largely, and hold in their hands the titles of property, but are indebted in more than the amount of that property, must surrender it for the benefit of their creditors. Counterfeits in wealth, like counterfeits in coin, must be reduced to their real value among their fellow-citizens. Banks must be restored to the principles upon which alone they can beneficially exist, and insolvent banks must be extirpated. In this condition of home affairs, the great point is, to induce our legislators to let them alone. Pecuniary concerns between man and man, and between individuals and incorporated institutions, will, by the ordinary administration of justice, soon find their level. They are finding that level now. Various projects are spoken of to relieve society from the pressure of the times. But who will believe in the magic of a legislative act to make prodigality frugal, luxury temperate, and the vanity of dress and equipage economical? Nothing but actual suffering can effect a cure. Meantime, as it regards the nation, all the wealth that was in the country prior to what is called these "hard times," is here still; and the only calamity is that it must change hands. Those who are really poor, though nominally rich, must give up the property; and those who are truly entitled, must obtain possession of it.

The past year has been remarkable as it respects the amelioration of the condition of the people of colour, and the extension of slavery in the territories of the Union. The American Colonization Society, after the most indefatigable exertions and considerable expense, are making ready to send over a number of families of free coloured people to the coast of Africa. Government agents have already been sent, with a few of the same description of persons, for the purpose of receiving and safe keeping any negroes who may be captured by American cruisers from slave-ships attempting to introduce them into our country. The extension of slavery in the Missouri territory, and in the unsettled regions beyond it, has been sharply contested by our public writers and by the orators in both branches of Congress. Whatever may be the consequences of these efforts with regard to the blacks, it is evident that the present period is an important epoch as it concerns the prevalence of slavery among civilized nations. The doctrines of christianity and the sentiments of an enlightened philanthropy are incessantly operating, like the action of light on the atmosphere of our globe, on the intellect of the whites in behalf of the Africans; and at this time it is impossible to calculate the effects that may be produced in relation to the fate of that unfortunate race.
